REPORT OF PRINCIPAL AND SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT COUNCIL

For 47 years, Seven Oaks Elementary School (SOES) has maintained a tradition of excellence in teaching and learning. Generations of families have entered these doors, and we are very proud of our relationships in the community. SOES takes great pride in our partnerships with local faith-based groups, businesses, and subdivision neighbors to continue their trust in our school. We are very grateful for the recent renovations that have created a renewed sense of pride among our students, teachers, and staff in these state-of-the-art facilities. The teachers, staff, and children thank the School Board, District Superintendent, and the citizens of District Five of Lexington and Richland Counties for their vision and dedication to excellence in education.

Our commitment to academic excellence earned Palmetto Gold recognition by the State. For our Positive Behavior Intervention and Support (PBIS) program, our school received Banner status from the South Carolina Department of Education. SOES received the Whole Child Award from the South Carolina Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, an award which recognizes schools for their efforts to ensure that students are safe, healthy, supported, challenged, and engaged each day so they are ready to learn. District Five presented the first Good Housekeeping Award to our school, and two of our volunteers received Volunteer of the Year and Volunteer Organization of the Year Award for the district. A second-grade teacher from SOES received the District Five Distinguished Reading Teacher Award from the Columbia Reading Council. Several staff members received grants from Donor's Choose and Mid-Carolina Electric Cooperative.

SOES students were finalists in the Columbia Lego Competition and the SC Kid's Marathon. Our students earned Honorable Mention in the District Five Science Fair, and several students were members of the South Carolina Honors Choir. A student at SOES was the winner of the District "Battle on the Dam" T-shirt design contest, and SOES was the winner in the Blowfish Baseball Reading Reward Program for the second consecutive year.

Several programs have helped SOES achieve excellence: PBIS, Reading Buddies and United Way of the Midlands. One component of our PBIS program involved 18 staff members mentoring students. They met with students twice a day and also offered encouragement and support during difficult times. We saw such great progress with these students and our staff mentors gained in this experience too. Our Reading Buddies program through the vision of our SIC involved 32 community members who came every week to listen to their students read in grades 5K-2. The United Way of the Midlands supported our reading buddies program and they, along with the SC Department of Education, supported students by providing books to ensure summer reading. These programs enriched the lives of our children and encouraged best behavior and reading practices.

Our students and staff are excited about the road ahead as SOES embarks on a new journey as a school-wide magnet, MEDIA: Mass Communication, Engagement, Digital Communication, Interactive learning and Academics. Our new motto will be "We Plug Students In" by creating an environment where they can learn through active engagement of project based learning, public speaking, writing and use of technology. We are excited about Seven Oaks Elementary MEDIA Magnet School!
